Chapter 1: How You Approach Life and How You Appear To Others

Taurus Rising:

You have a sensible and realistic outlook on life, with your two feet planted firmly on the ground (though you may, on occasion, have your head in the clouds). Others often see you as a rock of strength, solid, reliable, dependable, and constant.

You are, in fact, amazingly consistent, for you possess great powers of endurance and do not like changes or adjustments to your regular routine. You tend to do things deliberately and methodically and may not easily accommodate the unexpected.

Though you have a gentle appearance, you are enormously strong-willed and stubborn. You go at your own pace and will not be rushed or pushed into anything before you feel sure about it. You can be coaxed and persuaded by charm, beauty, love, or affection - but never forced. You won't fight either, but like "Ferdinand" the bull, will simply resist any attempts to coerce you to do something you do not want to do.

When you have a purpose, you can be quite fixed and unmovable about it. Such obstinacy can be infuriating to others, especially since it takes much provocation to make you flare up or respond to their anger. You keep calm, unruffled, and nonemotional most of the time, but behind your easygoing, peaceable appearance there is great strength. When it comes to a contest of wills, you tend to win simply due to your relentless persistence, and ability to outlast just about anyone.

Comfortable in stable, relatively unchanging conditions, you have a strong desire for tangible security - a home of your own, money in the bank, job-security, etc. There can be a risk of getting caught in a rut because you will stay in a familiar situation, like a job, long after it has lost its vitality and interest.

There is a keen appreciation of the beauty of the natural world. You get much happiness from simple creature comforts and the physical world, with all of its myriad delights.

Chapter 2: The Inner You: Your Real Motivation

Sun in Gemini:

You are, in many ways, like an eternal child - bright, alert, curious, flexible, playful, and always eager for new experiences. Though once your initial curiosity is satisfied, you want to go on to something else, to satisfy your craving for change and variety.

It may be hard to decide just where your talents and true vocation lies, since you have a multitude of interests, and are loathe to limit your options by concentrating on just one. Generally enchanted by all the fascinating possibilities, your curiosity will propel you into many different experiences in life. You are willing to taste or try anything once, and it is drudgery for you to have to do the same thing over and over again, even if it is something you do well.

You tend to live in your head a great deal - reading, observing, thinking, spinning ideas around, and need mental stimulation every bit as much as you need food and drink. Such a creative mind allows you to live by your wits.

A very social creature, with a strong need to interact with people, you enjoy using and playing with words and have a real flair for getting your ideas across in a clever, interesting, articulate manner. Your happiness lies in using your creativity and language skills to communicate something meaningful, to teach, inspire, or bring people together.

Your unbiased mind can usually offer a fresh, clear, uncluttered perspective, though there may be an inclination to overlook or ignore emotional issues involving other people's feelings. And your reluctance to limit your options, or your personal freedom, might make it hard to commit to anyone when the time comes. You also have a rather light and mischievous sense of humor, enabling you to avoid taking anything too seriously.

Sun in 1st house:

You are determined to 'make something of yourself', and desire to be appreciated 'for who you really are'. Willful and self-motivated, you may be the one whom others look to for what's next. There's a tendency to resist other strong individuals, feeling a need to be the one in control of your own life. Some may fault you for being too self-involved, too immersed in your own interests, and oblivious to others, at times.

Sun Opposition Neptune:

Extremely sensitive and imaginative, you are motivated by dreams, fantasies, and visions, believing that you have to be something extraordinary, or you're nothing at all. There can be an aptitude for artistic and creative pursuits, the world of color, beauty, and emotion. Gentle and peace-loving, you may also be drawn to mysticism, having deep spiritual aspirations and yearnings. You may have to struggle to find the competitive spirit needed to make your mark in the world, putting off your idealistic vision, to face the hard realities of life.

Sun Trine Pluto:

A deep belief in your own capability allows you to survive big changes and to emerge victoriously from any difficulty. With tremendous inner resources and a strong will, you can easily inspire confidence in your abilities, and accomplish almost anything without much resistance from others. This also gives you the ability to inspire and encourage people who are struggling, to restore their faith in themselves, and help them confront life and their own destiny.

Chapter 3: Mental Interests and Abilities

Mercury in Gemini:

Your active, lively and versatile mind enjoys a multitude of interests and an inexhaustible curiosity about life. You are quick to grasp new concepts, but may be equally quick to lose interest in an idea or project once your curiosity has been satisfied. Your need to taste 'a little bit of everything' can be counterproductive to concentration and disciplined study. Mentally restless, you may want to change jobs or locations frequently, or possibly do work that involves movement, travel, and variety.

There is a flair for language, playing with words, speaking, writing, or teaching in an entertaining and informative way. You probably enjoy meeting new people, conversing, and learning a little bit about them, enabling you to work well with the public.

Sales, advertising, communications, journalism, or public relations could be good areas for you, and would take advantage of your ability to be articulate and communicate well.

Mercury in 1st house:

You are quite verbal and communicative and eager to get your own ideas and opinions across to others, saying what is on your mind.

Mercury Trine Pluto:

Your mind is deep and penetrating and you are interested in anything secret, mysterious, or hidden, including the deeper aspects of the human psyche. You possess an aptitude for private investigation, psychology and research work. You are also drawn to esoteric or occult studies.

Chapter 4: Emotions: Moods, Feelings, Romance

Moon in Cancer:

You respond very much to the emotional tone and atmosphere around you, and can be affected by fluctuating and unpredictable moods. Anyone who lives with you must accept your ups and downs and give you time to process your feelings.

You can also be quite sympathetic, and understand the unspoken feelings and needs of others. There's a tendency to take slights and rebuffs very personally and though you may forgive a transgression by a friend or loved one, you don't easily forget it.

Moon in 3rd house:

There's an inclination to make decisions solely for emotional or personal reasons, because something "feels right", or because you've always done it a certain way, and are uncomfortable changing it. Even when you think you're being rational, long held prejudices, intuitions, and feelings influence your reasoning a great deal. Because you are comfortable talking about personal subjects, and sharing confidences, you enable others to express their inner feelings with you as well. This can give you good psychological insight into others.

Moon Conjunct Venus:

No matter how you appear on the surface, you have a very soft heart and others can always appeal to your sympathetic, affectionate side. You especially care about the needs of children, mothers, and families, and you want a love partner who values marriage, home, and family as much as you do. Unkindness or harshness offends you too.

Moon Conjunct Jupiter:

You are tolerant and forgiving, always ready to overlook mistakes and give others a second chance. You expect the best from people and draw it out of them, and you enjoy making others comfortable and happy. Because of your emotional generosity, your life is rich with friends, and often financial blessings as well.

Moon Square Pluto:

Your desires and feelings are intense, making personal relationships deeply emotional, passionate, and possibly stormy as well. There are powerful magnetic ties between yourself and those you care about, and issues of betrayal would be very wounding to you. Feelings can sometimes be so compelling that you cannot even discuss them rationally.

Periodically, you could undergo emotional upheavals and purging, when you must release the past and begin anew.

Moon Trine Uranus:

You are uninhibited and spontaneous and will often do something unexpected or humorous in order to loosen people up and get them out of their ruts. You crave emotional stimulation, excitement, surprises, and anything new. You love to feel free and unfettered.

Venus in Cancer:

Sensitive and sentimental, you place a great value on family, old friends, and familiar places of the past. The remembrance of birthdays, anniversaries, family rituals, and other days of personal significance seems quite important to you.

Romantic and tender, you seek caring, emotional support, and security in love. There may be an inclination to 'mother' everyone you meet. In any event, you like to be needed, and can be very protective of your loved ones.

Venus in 3rd house:

Harmonious surroundings may be quite important to you, as you have an innate sense of style, design, and form. Socially, also, good form and politeness matter to you, and you instinctively avoid crudeness and dissonance. You are more inclined to behave lovingly toward your siblings and relatives than most.

You may enjoy reading or discussions about love, relationships, art and the beautiful side of life.

Chapter 5: Drive and Ambition: How You Achieve Your Goals

Mars in Leo:

You are warm and generous, and never see your assertions as purely selfish, for you believe that what you want...will be good for everyone!

Naturally confident and ambitious, you strive to excel, to stand out and be recognized for your abilities. Your strong drive to be Special makes it difficult to take orders from others, or just stay in the background. You also dislike being wrong, and will try to find a way to always be right!

Strong, energetic, and determined, you are competitive, and unflinching, especially when standing up for your personal honor or integrity. A strong belief in yourself makes you able to accomplish much.

Mars in 4th house:

It is not easy for you to show the world at large your competitive side: More likely it comes out around your family. Growing up, there may have been a great competition between you and one or more of your relations. You want to have things your way in the home, and put a lot of energy into making it the way you want it.

Mars Conjunct Saturn:

Serious about reaching your goals, you feel that keeping your nose to the grindstone is the only way to do it. Hard work, persistent effort, and concentration upon a single objective are the way you were taught to pursue your aims in life. There is a capacity for great self-control, even self-denial, in the pursuit of what really matters. Meeting obstacles stoically, you often feel that you must rely on yourself alone, that it's all on your shoulders. You could have experienced certain restrictions as a child, which led you to believe that you must always rein in your natural impulses. This could cause you to hold yourself back, doubting your own rights or ability. You may have come to expect some kind of resistance whenever you try to assert yourself or take initiative, which is frustrating. However, you have the dogged determination to struggle patiently through trying circumstances.

Chapter 6: Other Influences

Jupiter in Cancer:

You make others feel accepted and comfortable: You have a knack for breaking down feelings of alienation and making others feel included and a part of group activities. Your loving, protective nature wants to take care of everyone. Creating a supportive atmosphere that is nourishing both to yourself and to others is one of your strengths.

Your home and heritage are important to you, so you gain a lot out of maintaining close connections to your past.

Jupiter in 2nd house:

Material well-being, and prosperity are very important to you, and you would never knowingly choose a profession that didn't offer you opportunity for growth (financial and otherwise).

Whatever you do with your money, you tend to do in a big way - making it... or spending it! You are naturally drawn to elegant, high quality possessions.

Generous and idealistic in your approach to money, rather than holding on to it, you want to enjoy it and use it to enrich people's lives. You have the faith that you can always multiply your assets, no matter how few, and create abundance and prosperity for yourself and others.

Jupiter Square Pluto:

You aim high, have great vision, and are never satisfied with yourself unless you can achieve your goals in a big way. You are very opportunistic and are always ready to capitalize on a good idea. You utilize contacts with prominent and successful people to advantage, and are likely to win yourself an important and lucrative position in life.

Jupiter Trine Uranus:

You have a knack for bringing new ideas and plans into fruition with less difficulty than others. Your positive, enthusiastic attitude attracts helpful situations and unusual opportunities to you.

Saturn in Leo:

You may tend to be self-conscious, and have a great need for ego-affirmation and praise. There may be a tendency to work hard at playing and "having fun", rather than being light-hearted and spontaneous. Developing self-love and self-acceptance regardless of your "performance" would be an important task.

Saturn in 4th house:

Your experience of early home life may have seemed restrictive, controlled, or constrained in some way. You may have felt deprived in some manner. Emotional repression of your needs and feelings may have typified periods of your early life, at least as you remember it. Forgiving and letting go of any resentments you have about the limitations you experienced in childhood is crucial. Also, you need to build your own solid foundation: By investing time and energy into your home, domestic relationships, and inner life, you will cultivate self-reliance.

Uranus in Scorpio:

You are part of a 7 year group of people who break down all manner of taboos regarding death, sex, and any other personal, private, or difficult topics. Your age group is willing to explore the boundaries of relationships. You love emotional intensity, and can't help challenging customary ways of 'courtship and mating'.

Uranus in 6th house:

Your tendency toward unstructured work habits makes it difficult for you to settle down to a routine task or work situation. You've come to expect the unexpected in your daily routine.

You are energized by new and unusual, even revolutionary methods of solving problems in your work. Nontraditional methods of healing and medicine may also captivate your interest. You could work in an alternative health field or work for change and reform in whatever field you choose.

Neptune in Sagittarius:

You are part of a 14 year group of people that are extremely idealistic and farsighted in their dreams. A great deal of metaphysical musing and speculation is evident, and there is a very strong interest in all manner of psychic phenomena. This generation tends to be very expansive in outlook, and consequently, religions that do not adapt to the broad-minded attitude of your age group will simply be unable to attract much interest and involvement from you.

Neptune in 7th house:

You may have grown up with somewhat idealistic, or overly romantic ideas about people, making it difficult for you to see others realistically. You may prefer to keep your relationships on an idealistic plane, and overlook the more mundane, earthy, human aspects of relating.

A desire to see only the best in people tends to cloud your judgement about others with whom you form a close alliance. This can be advantageous for them, as long as you see them through your 'opalescent lens'. Just remember that there's a real flawed human being on the other side, so that you won't later feel taken advantage of.

Neptune Sextile Pluto:

The entire sub-generation to which you belong has tremendous opportunities for spiritual rebirth and awakening. You seem to be riding a wave of transformative inspiration, made possible by being selfless and compassionate. You have the chance to contribute to a new destiny of harmony and understanding, by applying a true spirituality to the problem of dogmatic religious divisions.

Pluto in Libra:

You are part of a 12 year group of people who are deeply interested in personal relationships. You have a deeply-rooted yearning to see people relating and communicating with each other effectively and harmoniously. There is a willingness to hear the other person's side of the story and a readiness to compromise and arbitrate different points of view. In fact, the need for harmonious, peaceful relationships is so strong that there is a tendency to overlook real differences and to focus only on more superficial similarities, in an attempt to bring different parties into harmony with each other. Your appreciation for other cultures inspires you will try to preserve and support the cultural heritage of a wide range of ethnic groups.

In short, you are part of a generation of individuals who are deeply interested in other people; a humanistic and humanitarian group. You will experiment with personal relationships, and forge new models for how people can relate as friends, family members, and members of nations as well.

Pluto in 5th house:

Whatever you do, you want to do it to the fullest. In love and romance, there tends to be an element of 'intrigue', as meetings seem to be set in motion by forces beyond your control.

In other forms of creative self-expression, you may feel compelled by a deep need to prove yourself: The need for personal recognition, or just to be taken seriously, informs your powerful creative efforts.
