Chapter 1: Ceres

Ceres in Capricorn:

You feel nurtured and cared for when you feel safe and secure, when there is structure, and your provided for. This is how you were taken care of by your parents, they were strong providers, giving you shelter and food on the table. This is now how you nurture by providing, and making those you care about feel safe, secure and provided for. Many with this placement may make a career out of the Ceres talents; cooking, care taking, nursing.

Ceres in 9th house:

Your taste in foods may be on the exotic side, foreign foods from many different cultures and countries excite your palate. Your higher mind is the way to being nurtured for you. Exploring new ideas, and ways to grow gives you the comfort needed. You encourage others to learn and grow, it gives you joy and happiness to see someone grow, or get a promotion and get a transfer to another location. Travel is a source of nurturing for your soul. Your mother may have been from a different background or you may have had a nanny from another country or culture. You feel comfortable being "on the road".

Ceres Opposition Venus:

Relationships may be challenging in that it is hard for you to show and receive affection and nurturing. Parents may not have shown enough nurturing or caretaking in your childhood, either too busy with their lives, that you did not develop a very nurturing and affectionate personality. There can be issues with food, especially sugary foods, and your self-image or self-esteem. This can lead to eating disorders, overweight, anorexia nervosa, bulimia etc. You can integrate the inadequate feelings by being more demonstrative with your nurturing and caretaking.

Ceres Trine Asc.:

People see you as the caretaker as that is a big part of your role. You have talents in the domestic scene cooking, gardening, and taking care of others. This can translate into a career model for you as this comes naturally to you. Careers as a chef, short order cook, caretaker, or gardener or agriculturist suit you well.

Chapter 2: Pallas

Pallas in Sagittarius:

You have the ability to see the big picture in the scheme of things. Broad vision, and expanded interests in many subjects keeps you always searching for the truth and higher knowledge. You have a love of higher education, whether it be in life or in an actual classroom. You do learn from experience and through others, especially other cultures which your drawn too. You possess strong humor, to keep perspective, and balance. You are seeking the truth, this may involve your religious belief system, or philosophy of life.

Pallas in 7th house:

Pallas in the seventh can describe your other half, they may be strong planners and organizers, with very strong intuition, a psychic etc. Your other half may be a lawyer, politician, or counselor. You receive good advice and counsel from others often just in casual conversation. You have insight into relationships and how they work, this is a great placement for a relationship counselor, a lawyer or Politian.

Pallas Opposition Sun:

You have a very ambitious nature and wanting to succeed is paramount to you. You may fear success and can at times sabotage your own fruition of dreams by getting in your own way. There may be conflicts with others about your plan of attack or strategy, this may take some integration time and make sure there are not ego conflicts with others while planning a task. You have a strong sense of competition with others and like the challenge of winning a situation. Mental competition is what you are good at, figuring out the strategy of how to take down the opponent.

Pallas Opposition Mercury:

Relationships can be difficult especially over miscommunications and plans that don't manifest. Plans that change can really get to you, and it may seem to happen in relationships most often. Be more flexible when your plan of attack gets thwarted by another who changes everything last minute. Be sure to communicate and articulate what those plans are. Trusting your intuition is a big part, and something you will need to learn to integrate into your life.

Pallas Conjunct Neptune:

You have strong intuition, and most likely are very psychic. This can manifest in other arenas such as music, art, and photography to name a few. You likely have very vivid dreams and are good at dream analysis. Psychology is also a good avenue for you as you see the bigger picture into a person's psyche. Detective work is also favored with this aspect, or at the least loving spy and intrigue movies and stories.

Pallas Sextile Pluto:

You have a very powerful mind capable of creating your desires, manifesting them into reality. You understand the "power" of thought and what desire does with thought and intention; Magic happens. You have a strong mind, and can see the motivations of others, without really knowing much about them. You read their intent, and you know what they are all about. Sex is a big focus for you and you love to "see" what others are all about. This is OK as long as it's not invasive, this is due to your X-Ray vision, that see's what others are hiding.

Pallas Conjunct Vesta:

You are a highly dedicated person to whatever cause you deem important. You have the ability to reach a high standing profession which stands for a higher purpose or cause. You can take sexual energy and manifest something real with this energy, this is the secret of attraction, the law of attraction, and magic. You are able to accomplish much with your broad vision and extreme dedication to purpose and cause.

Chapter 3: Juno

Juno in Aquarius:

You need friendship in your relationship, which may seem strange to others, as you can be friends, with your partner. This is a sign of independence and uniqueness so you may not have the traditional relationships like others. There may be open relationships, polyamorous, or even if totally exclusive a sense of freedom and trust must be there. Through your relationship together you both find your individuality. You tend to encourage each other to be your unique selves.

Juno in 9th house:

Your relationship may involve lots of long distance travel, and you may meet your spouse in another country. Intellectual pursuits are important for this relationship. Religion is a big deal for you and your mate, or at least your belief systems. You and your spouse like to spend time in the outdoors, having fun, enjoying sports.

Juno Trine Mercury:

Your communication with your spouse is very harmonious and positive. There is mutual understanding with your communication styles within the relationship. You find many interesting things to talk about, and it makes you a stronger couple. You may talk a lot about your spouse to others, in a good way of course. You both share many common interests. Decisions are made with involvement between you both.

Juno Conjunct MC:

You may find your marriage partner through your career or you may work with your partner. Your other half will be career minded as well. You see your marriage as an important position, or status in society. Marriage may even be equal to your career goal(s). It may even be the goal. You may work in an industry involving weddings, catering, and wedding planning, such as facilitator of the marriage. You may be the second in command or "vice" president of a company as Juno is second in power to Zeus.

Juno Square Chiron:

There may be issues and concerns about commitment in your relationships. Did your parents have these issues? Do you have trust issues regarding fidelity? The challenge is to learn to trust again, in order to have a great working relationship in your marriage.

Chapter 4: Vesta

Vesta in Sagittarius:

Your belief system or religion is paramount and a huge calling you need to explore and devote to in this lifetime. This is the placement for priests, nuns, and other types of philosophers including professors at a college. This placement also relates to metaphysics and spiritual devotion. There may be many beliefs or taboos related to sexuality depending on the spiritual view point. Rituals and ceremonies are important for you to practice.

Vesta in 7th house:

You're so devoted to your partner, it's like you were born to be with each other.. You may even sacrifice your identity a little in doing so, just watch to see that it does not become co-dependency where you lose yourself totally. You love having things to do for your significant other; you may spend your day doing so. This is a good placement for working with your spouse.

Vesta Opposition Sun:

You will learn at some point in your life the meaning of devotion, dedication and commitment as Vesta is opposing your identity, meaning there are some major lessons to learn and to integrate these values into your personal life, and incorporate them into your work habits. You may have some relationship issues that the main issue is one of you not being able to devote and commit yourself to the other. Once you learn the importance of dedication and focus on one person or ideal this will become balanced and integrated into your life.

Vesta Opposition Mercury:

There can be communication problems or restrictions in your speaking as you choose to be silent unless you really need to say something. You can have a hard time concentrating, or keeping your focus, as it quickly diverts to other areas.

Vesta Conjunct Neptune:

You have a strong sense of direction in the spiritual paths and have a strong knowing psychically about your spiritual path and direction. You may utilize this energy into the arts, and or music, leading to becoming a very talented musician. You give selflessly of yourself to a greater cause.

Vesta Sextile Pluto:

You find it stimulating to do research into the unknown and have the curiosity and drive to create something or discover something of mass appeal. Intuitive ideas come to you as you get deeper into your search as it is part of the process. Vesta seeks a deep and meaningful sexual experience with this aspect of Pluto, which is healthy, do not feel guilty over your sexual power.

Chapter 5: Chiron

Chiron in Taurus:

Your journey is to feel security with yourself first and foremost and not feel you need designer labels, clothing, and jewelry, or the latest shoe's to feel that you are of value to society. Those things are all great and ok to have when you already feel inside that they don't make you who you are. Survival issues may be an issue you had to overcome, poverty, loss, and heavy experiences, know you need to learn to relax and enjoy the comforts and joys of life.

Chiron in 12th house:

You have a strong need for retreat, and isolation to an extent in order to heal your inner wound, as you may have no idea what the cause of this wound is, or where it came from, the only place to look is inward, inside yourself. It may have cause in a past life, whatever the cause it is very subconscious and needs to be brought to light in order to understand and heal. This can manifest in you working in large institutions, like hospitals or prisons, where seclusion is the norm. Interests include healing, nursing, counseling, rehabilitation, drug or alcohol recovery counselor, and psychic and energy healer. You may have been a nun or monk, in a past life or a thieving vagabond that made you end up in prison.

Chiron Sextile Jupiter:

This aspect gives you an excellent ability to mentor, teach, coach and train. Higher learning from a master, one who has done the research, and walked the walk is now going to be able to talk the talk and spread the word, this person is you. You love learning and just as much, sharing this knowledge and teaching.

Chiron Opposition Uranus:

You may have difficulty with relationships until you realize that you just need your freedom. You don't like convention and alternative is a key word for you in this life, as you have an alternative to most everything. Structure is hard for you if it's too rigid you will rebel and break away. Therefor authority is something you feel challenged by. You may feel like a maverick and that is truly what you are. Once you come to terms with this your relationships both personal and impersonal will improve greatly.

Chiron Square MC:

There may be challenges to overcome in regard to your work and career life. Relationships can be challenging with your significant other or your business partners. Perhaps there is an open wound that needs to be healed in order to move forward, on the job or up the ladder. Showing others that you're ready and capable is the key.

Chiron Square Juno:

You attract relationships that trigger deep healing that is needed within you, your partner or both. Sometimes this means your other half has major healing issues either psychological or physical. There can be challenge with these issues but it is also what makes you each stronger together and heal inwardly.
